

SCIENTIFIC COMPUTING IN CAMBRIDGE MEETING

THURS 18TH OCT 2007

17:15 at the Centre for Mathematical Sciences on Wilberforce Road, Cambridge. The meeting provides an informal forum for people interested in all aspects of scientific computing, and all are welcome. Wine and food will be available.

MICROMECHANICS FROM IMAGES

Alexandre Kabla, Department of Engineering (<http://www.eng.cam.ac.uk/~ajk61/>)

SCIENTIFIC COMPUTING AT THE MRC LABORATORY OF MOLECULAR BIOLOGY

MiniTalks from Richard Pollock: OSX development and BioSAVE (<http://www.mrc-lmb.cam.ac.uk/genomes/BioSAVE/>); Boris Adryan and Derek Wilson

This part of the meeting will be followed by informal discussion and demonstration sessions. Special interest groups are being set up to help organise this informal, less-structured part of the meeting. More information about this and other activities of the group can be found at the web address below, or at the SciComp forum at: <http://scicomp.collectivex.com>
